

SOUTH CENTRAL CLIMATE RESILIENCE FORUM 2024

April 2-4, 2024

Dallas, Texas

Be a leader in the advancement of climate resilience in the region

Forum Sponsorship Opportunities

The south-central U.S. is experiencing the stresses of climate change, such as acute shocks of heat and cold waves, wildfires, drought, and floods. How will we decrease these risks, adapt, and become more resilient? The South Central Climate Resilience Forum (SCCRF) will provide a platform for all of us to come together and share experiences, opportunities, tools, resources, and knowledge to build a more resilient future.

Your sponsorship will give you the opportunity to showcase your work and connect with attendees. It will also keep registration rates affordable by helping offset the costs of the Forum and potentially provide travel support for participants in under-resourced communities. Help us make the Forum a success!

The Forum will:

- Bring together representatives from non-profit organizations, all levels of government, community groups, private industry, and academia from Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas.
- Increase understanding of the climate-related challenges facing the region and awareness of work that is being done to enhance resilience in the region.
- Provide opportunities for information exchange relating to climate resilience and network-building.

The South Central Climate Resilience Forum brings together practitioners, researchers, and professionals interested in solutions to climate-related challenges.

THE ORGANIZERS

The planning of the 2024 Forum is being led by a collaborative group of academic institutions, municipalities, federal agencies, and organizations.
